

Instant replay

I got the feeling I been here before
I can't say for sure but I know what comes next
I got the feeling I've done this before
Same situation, different context

Was it ten years ago or just yesterday?
Was it this very moment in instant replay?
Was it here and now with that slight delay that it takes for my heart and brain to interrelate

Is it a flash from a past life, a buried memory?
If it's the shape of things to come, it won't worry me
I just don't get it, makes no sense
Too intense to be a second-hand experience
It's all too familiar, all too similar
To the way I've imagined things to turn out

I got the feeling I been here before
I can't say for sure but I know what comes next
I got the feeling I've done this before
Same situation, different context

I got the feeling I been here before
I can't say for sure but I know what comes next
I got the feeling I've done this before
Same old reality remixed