

Peace

Everything seems so small
So calm, so quiet
As if there were no violence, no famine
No climate change, no wars, no riots
A blue mothership on autopilot
Sailing in silence
Defying the gravity of its situation
But way up here, no borders, no nations
No limitations, no limits to creation
The mind is a super space station
That has been designed for cosmic elevation
250 miles high and rising
And the horizon keeps on widening Challenging reality changing perspective
Looking at the world upside down
Impressive beauty of the void
Expect the unexpected
Stay receptive
And seek peacefulness and light to reflect it
Like the man in the moon
The woman in the Earth
We are the universe, never forget this
When you feel you're nothing, you're part of everything
Diving into deep space
Deep down within
Diving into deep space
deep down within
Finding peace within
