

Something's Got To Give

Everything breaks into pieces
As soon as my hand reaches out
To seize the prize
Destiny unleashes
Mysterious forces from the dark side
That paralyze my limbs and leave me speechless
And turn my heart beatless
My brain screeches to a halt I turn into a pillar of salt
Stuck in a tectonic fault
All my efforts blocked and walled

So I push push to the left
So I push push to the right
Push push forward always
As long as I live
Something's got to give now
Something's got to give

I hate it, the way every time when I think I made it
Shit tends to get complicated
Can it be that it was all so simple then?
Did I underestimate it?
I put my guts into it
My heart, my balls into it
Never faked it
Love with a capital L made me do it
But the devil in the details ruined it
Raped it, left me devastated
Like a kid with a big balloon, deflated
Am I ill-fated? Let me face it

So I push push to the left
So I push push to the right
Push push forward always
As long as I live
Something's got to give now
Something's got to give

Countless nights without sleep
Countless days without dreams
I think I'm in too deep
I'm about to blow up
I gotta let off steam

So I push push to the left
So I push push to the right
Push push forward always

As long as I live
Something's got to give now
Something's got to give

© 2014 Nya