

The Sweetest Word

You're the sweetest word that I've ever heard
You make miracles occur
You make everything sound right

You're the sweetest word that I've ever heard
That has ever registered on my brain and set my soul astir
Without a whisper you enter, telepathic transfer
Put me in a state of high alert, stimulating every nerve
I surrender to the attraction you exert, too superb
When you shine you make diamonds look like dirt
You make things easy even when it's hard work
Life ain't worth shit without you, I'd go bezerk
You are so perfectly well curved, smooth like syllables slurred
You're bringing water to my mouth, then you're out like a byebye blackbird
Touched my tongue, untied it, made me a convert
You feel so good sometimes it hurts, oh shit that's absurd
You burn my lips, break my teeth, make me spit pure pearls
Make me stutter, stammer, but give me the grammar of this world
You're the sword on my vocal cords, yes, you're the one that I gird
You kill or cure, one thing's for sure
You are the one that I prefer

You're the sweetest word that I've ever heard
You make miracles occur
You make everything sound right

You're the flesh on my bones, the crown on my dome
The 24th chromosome
That extra hormone that patterns my speech
And colors my vocal tone
You paint it stone cold polychrome
With one upstroke alone
You got my mind blown forever into the 25th timezone
Cuz you're the one I wanna stay with,
Play with on a permanent basis
The two of us together will never push up daisies
We turn deserts into oases layer by layer
Cuz you're every rhymesayers pious prayers come true
You are my favorite psalm 82
Every night I recite you when I'm uptight
Hyped up, you bring me calm
And charm the snakes that are trying to bite off
The lifelines in my palm
And rock this joint cuz it's anointed by your lyrical balm
Cuz you're the original sacrament, and you're the extreme unction

You put my mind, heart and tongue in perfect conjunction Always keep it funkín', number one vital function
See, I got to make a lovin' living always saying something

You're the sweetest word that I've ever heard
You make miracles occur
You make everything sound right

© 2010 Nya